Senator Charges Insults Hurlled

MONTREAL (CP) — Senator M. Wallace McCutcheon accused the federal government today of using blackmail tactics on the provinces and charged Health Minister MacEachen with insulting doctors and trying to sell medical care insurance through hair-splitting arguments.

Speaking to the Canadian Medical Association's conference on medical care insurance and manpower, Senator McCutcheon said Canada should concentrate on providing government help to those who require it, leaving the majority to buy their own medical care protection.

Senator McCutcheon, a candidate for the Progressive Conservative leadership and a former trade minister in the Diefenbaker government, said Ottawa has a record of holding out the carrot of payments to the provinces and wielding a stick represented by conditions attached to those payments.

This was what was being done with medical care insurance, scheduled to start July 1, 1968, and already the federal government was showing signs of planning to withdraw its direct contributions to provincial plans five years hence.

"I am not one of those who believe that all wisdom resides in Ottawa, nor am I one who agrees with the blackmail tactics which Ottawa has been applying in recent years," he said.

He said that Mr. MacEachen in telling doctors in recent public speeches that their incomes may increase by 20 per cent under medical care insurance was guilty of "an insult to the profession."

And Mr. MacEachen's statements that the federal requirement that plans provide universal coverage "is not synonymous with 'compulsion' . . . is indulging in the rankest sophistry."

Herman Linder To Produce Show

Cardston Cowboy Behind Expo's Western Rodeo

By DAVE MacDONALD

MONTREAL (CP) — A real live cowboy came to Expo 67 Friday, authentic from the sole of his cowboy boots to the crown of his white, wide-brimmed Stetson.

Herman Linder left about 400 head of Hereford cattle on his ranch at Cardston, Alta., to mosey down to Montreal to tell the dudes what they'll be seeing at a Great Western Rodeo in Expo's 25,000-seat Autostade Oct 6-15.

The weather-beaten Albertan, who will produce the show, told a press conference the rodeo will attract the top men in the rodeo field from all over North America—and the Montreal results could affect the Canadian and world championships.

"I reckon we'll have prize-money in the region of $70,000," he said. "This includes the entry money the cowboys pay for each event and which is fed right back to them along with the $37,500 basic prize money.

"For this money we'll get the best. If you put up a big enough purse these boys will go to China to ride."

MAJOR EVENTS
The five major events to be seen at the five afternoon and 10 evening performances include Brahma bull riding, steer wrestling, calf roping, bronc riding with saddle and bronc riding without saddle.

Besides these he-man standards there will be a cowgirls' barrel race, with a purse of $2,000, which involves girls riding horses in intricate patterns around three widely-spaced barrels.

"We'll stage a pageant of the old roundup days, with cowboys driving cattle into the arena, bedding them down at one end and their chuck wagon at the other.

"They'll light a fire and have some singing by Wilf Carter and the Midnight Ramblers, from Victoria. Wilf was born in the Maritimes but became one of the West's greatest singers and has his statue in the Banff, Alta., museum.

"There'll be some trick riding and trick roping and a mounted square dance done by the Edmonton Quadrille Group."

About 325 head of stock was being brought to Montreal, including bucking horses, Brahma bulls and wrestling steers. In charge of providing this stock was Reg Kessler, of Rosemary, Alta.

MEMBER OF HALL
Mr. Linder, a member of the Cowboy Hall of Fame, was a rodeo professional between 1929 and 1939, was acclaimed as "the world's champion bareback rider" in New York in 1933, and held the all-round cowboy title seven times in Canada, five times on the North American circuit.

He keeps close to rodeo, "my favorite hobby," as general manager of the southern Alberta rodeo circuit.

Speaking of the animals used in a rodeo, he said the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has been invited to keep a close check on their treatment.

"There's no cruelty in rodeo, spurs are blunt and roll on wheels so as not to hurt the horses. Also they are bucked only once every three days.

"Horses and humans are exactly the same. There are bad humans who want to rob banks and pull stickups and there are horses who are just so ornery they don't want to be ridden. Only difference I see is that we have some use for the horses."

BRAHMAS ARE VICIOUS
"Brahma bulls, now. They are real vicious. If a man fell off a Brahma while riding him it would tromp right on him. That's why we'll have a clown at the Expo rodeo to distract the bull's attention when a man falls off."

Special attractions will include trick riding by the Duce Sisters of Granum, Alta., Jerri, 15 and Joey, 13, and the appearance of Junior Eskew, of Ardmore, Okla., and Gene McGlaughlin of Oklahoma City, reigning world champion and runner-up respectively.

Master of ceremonies will be Warren Cooper, of Nanton, Alta., who emceed the Calgary Stampede for many years.

Points from the Autostade rodeo will count towards the Canadian and world championships and will be telephoned to Denver, Col., where the rodeo statistics are kept, immediately after the 10-day show ends.

There will be no chuck-wagon race at the Autostade. "There's not enough room," said Mr. Linder. "We'd need a half-mile track for that."

LAUNCHES APPEAL

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Joseph Strick, who made the controversial film version of James Joyce's Ulysses, has lodged an appeal against banning of the film in Australia. Ulysses is being shown in Britain and the United States and to segregated audiences of men and women in New Zealand.

Centennial Show On Barges

HAY RIVER, N.W.T. (CP)—The Northwest Territories' counterpart to the Centennial train and caravans pushed into an ice-filled Great Slave Lake early Sunday from this centre 700 miles north of Edmonton.

A flotilla of two steel-hulled barges and a department of public works survey craft will sail around the ice jams in Great Slave Lake and down the Mackenzie River to Inuvik on the Arctic Coast, 1,800 miles away, carrying a giant ready-made birthday party.

From there, the floating exhibition will sail into the Arctic Ocean to Tuktoyaktuk, returning later in the summer to Yellowknife, capital of the Northwest Territories.

The exhibition barge, Radium 100, carries models of industries and other hallmarks of a modern industrial Canada. The models include downtown Edmonton, a Toronto subway station and the Indian pavilion at Expo 67 in Montreal.

The display is aimed at bringing southern industry and commerce to the North. A modernistic theme in the exhibits continues in the decor throughout the 120-foot barge.

DESIGNED INTERIOR

Allan Todd, 23, of Toronto, who designed the interior for the Canadian government exhibition commission, says he hopes his avant garde blend will be remembered because it's startling.

Mounted on the second barge are two trailers providing living accommodation for crew and entertainers, and a 25-foot high ferris wheel.

Entertainers include Rick Smith, 20, of Fort Smith, an organist; the Tumira Folk, a folk-singing trio from Yellowknife, and the Centennaires, a mixed Indian, Eskimo and white rock 'n' roll group. They will put on shows and concerts in communities where the flotilla stops.

Indian Princess Georgina Blondin, 19, smashed a bottle of champagne against the steel side of Radium 100 at the official launching ceremonies Saturday.

Among those at the launching was Northern Development Minister Laing, who, in a brief address, told the crowd they are not looking at history, but making it.

Blame Lightning For Blackout

CALGARY (CP) — Lightning was blamed for a power blackout Sunday night that affected a large portion of southwest Calgary.

The lightning struck a power pole, burning off the top 18 inches and shorting out the wires. Service was disrupted for almost two hours. Power crews completed repairs shortly after 8:30 p.m.

Broadcasting facilities and hundreds of homes in the area were affected.

Tories Take Posts

EDMONTON (CP)—The first provincial Conservative party caucus since 1935 Sunday delegated each of its six members of the legislature, elected in the May 23 provincial election, with responsibility for government departments.

Conservative leader Peter Lougheed, successor of Liberal leader Mike Maccagno as opposition leader, said the approach is designed to assure that one member of the opposition party will be fully informed on each department.

Mr. Lougheed will concentrate on the departments of education and provincial treasurer, and on federal provincial relations and the office of premier.

Dr. Hugh Horner, a former member of Parliament who won the Lac Ste. Anne provincial constituency, will be the opposition spokesman on health, agriculture, and lands and forests.

Party whip Lou Hyndman will specialize in northern development, attorney-general and highways. Don Getty, who defeated education minister R. H. McKinnon, will concentrate on youth, industry and development, and mines and minerals.

Dave Russell, a Calgary alderman who won the new riding of Calgary Victoria Park, will specialize on municipal affairs, public works and the provincial secretary's department.

Sixth member of the opposition party, Len Werry from Calgary Bowness, will concentrate on welfare, telephones and labor.

Jones Rides To Victory

ST. ALBERT, Alta. (CP) — Twice postponed because of rain, the St. Albert Rodeo Sunday drew a crowd of 15,000.

Keith Hyland of Turner Valley, took the day's top money of $312 by winning the saddle bronc and steer wrestling events.

The bareback bronc riding was won by Malcolm Jones of Lethbridge, while Dave Garsted of Veteran, Alta., won the bull riding competition.

Barry Lodge of Cochrane, won the calf-roping contest and Pat McHugh of DeWinton was first in the wild cow milking.
