GRAINS

WINNIPEG (CP)—Prices were irregular today in trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Flax quotations were easier with selling by United States accounts. There was occasional support from international interests. Oats and barley trading showed some domestic shipping demand and buying by commission houses prompted by continued lack of moisture on the prairies. Rye buying by American interests was reported by prices making advances. There were reactions from the high points at times. There were no reports of overseas business in Canadian coarse grains. Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included: United Kingdom 570,000 bushels, Japan 460,000, Belgium 300,000, The Netherlands 50,000, Rhodesia 40,000 and Denmark 25,000. Closing prices: Oats: July 4 lower 70%; Oct 4 lower 74%; Dec unch 69%; May unch 74%. Barley: July 4 lower 96%; Oct 4 lower 96%; Dec unch 94%; May 4 lower 85%. Flax: July 104 lower 2.63; Oct 6 1/4 lower 2.62B; Dec 7 lower 2.56A; May 7 1/4 lower 2.59A. Rye: July 4 higher 1.15 1/4; Oct 1 1/4-1 1/2 higher 1.18 1/4; Dec 3/4-1 higher 1.20 3/4; May 1/4 higher 1.25 1/4.

STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Western oils were strong today but the rest of the stock market was mixed to lower in moderate mid-afternoon trading. Western oil gains outnumbered losses 24-1. Many of the earlier winners, however, were slightly hit by profit-taking and some of the gains were reduced to half. Fargo was ahead 20 cents at $9.20 and Central Del Rio was up 1/2 to 13 1/4. Several other issues gained 15 cents. Feature was North Canadian, up 60 cents at $5.90. Industrials were lower with half a dozen stocks, all of which had light turnovers, down a point. The mining list was quiet and showed few significant changes. Higher-priced uranium were narrowly higher, led by Denison's 1/2-point gain at 19. Stanleigh gained 20 cents at $4.20.

MACMILLAN WINS CONFIDENCE VOTE

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan's government Monday night won a parliamentary vote of confidence for a Cyprus policy that held out the possibility of partition of the troubled island. A labor party attempt to censure the administration was beaten—226 to 200—in the House of Commons. The voting was along straight party lines. Government leaders blamed a Greek Cypriot Archbishop Makarios for the delay in giving the Mediterranean crown colony a new constitution providing for limited self-government. Assurances were given to the Turkish-speaking minority in Cyprus that their rights would be protected.

LAVERNE SCHIMID, young western beauty who hails from Raymond, Alberta, will be contesting the Miss Rodeo Canada contest in Medicine Hat this week during the Stampede when she will meet with six other finalists from Alberta and British Columbia. The winner will receive an expense-paid trip to San Francisco for the Miss Rodeo America contest.

FIRST OUT-OF-PROVINCE ENTRY—Leona McDonald, above, 17, a young brown-haired British Columbia cowgirl is the first entry to be received by rodeo officials in the forthcoming Miss Rodeo Canada Contest scheduled this week in the Gas-

World's Roughest Sport Headlines 'Hat Stampede'

When the action explodes in the arena of the Medicine Hat Exhibition and Stampede next week, area fans will see another professional edition of the roughest competitive sport in the world. As one of the 500-odd rodeos approved each year by the Rodeo Cowboys' Association, the Medicine Hat Exhibition and Stampede will be in the sport's major league, conducted under nationally recognized rules that assure the spectators of the best stock in a hard-riding contest open to the best cowboys in the business. Like all R.C.A. rodeos, the contest here will be built around the five standard professional events: bareback bronc riding, calf roping, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling and brahma bull riding. To tempt the top hands to bet their skills against their entry fees, the rodeo has put up a purse of $3,380. All entry fees will be added to the purse and every dollar won in competition here will count one point in the standing for the annual world's championships. In professional bareback bronc riding the rider has only a simple leather handhold on a surcingle, no saddle or rein. He must spur the horse over the point of the shoulders on the first jump out of the chute and should spur to the end of the ride to win. He must hang on for eight seconds and cannot touch the horse or the rigging with his free hand. In calf roping the contestant works against a stop watch. He tries to rope a calf, dismount, flag the calf and tie any three feet together in the shortest time possible. He gets two tries if he carries two loops made up into the arena. To make a qualified ride the saddle bronc rider must spur the horse out of the chute as in bareback riding and stick it out for eight to ten seconds, depending on the rules agreed on here. He rides an "association" saddle whose standard design has been approved by the R.C.A. and has only a rough braided rope rein to hang onto. If he loses a stirrup, touches the horse, rein or saddle with his free hand, he's disqualified. And to earn the winning marking he should spur the horse from shoulder to cantle board throughout the ride. The steer wrestler drops from the saddle of a highballing horse to the horns of a galloping steer, brings it to a stop and twists it down until all four legs are pointed out free. His is a race against time. To help the steer run straight, he has a helper, or hazer, riding on the opposite side of the animal. Rodeo's roughest contest is brahma bull riding. The bull rider has only a loose rope without knots or hitches that is held around the bull solely by the pressure of the rider's grip. He must ride for eight seconds with one hand free. But the ride is only half of it since the Brahmas are always ready to kill a man with their hooves or horns. Stock at the Medicine Hat Exhibition and Stampede will be furnished by Kessler & Vold. The Medicine Hat Exhibition & Stampede will run July 18-20 and will feature three performances.

Wrangler Senses Something Amiss

"Must be stampede week, or sumthin', by the look of the downtown streets. Fellow cain't hardly walk no more'n a block 'thout runnin' into a pitcher of a buckin' horse, a lariat, or a cowpoke. And then the city dudes get into the act with some of the go-dangest outfits you ever seen. Some of 'em, what never seen a real cayuse, is all fitted out with rider pants, pointed toe shoes, and shirts loud enough to start a stampede. And the funny thing is that the real cowpokes come to town in business suits." The above is a transcript of an interview between a representative of THE NEWS staff and the only cowboy we could find on the streets Monday who was the genuine thing. He was just in from Wildhorse to pick up his new New Yorker station wagon. Seriously, though, the street picking up remarkably around town, but there still is time for last minute action on the part of those who just haven't had time to get their stores and offices into the mood. Jack Coeks, in charge of the windows, and Gordon Simmons, in charge of store fronts, suggest that they use some of their spare time throughout Wednesday to be sure of being "in the act" for Thursday morning's parade.

Rejected Chorus Girl New Production's Star

By EDDY GILMORE
LONDON (AP)—Rochelle Lofing, rejected as a chorus girl because she made the others look flat-chested, blossomed out today as the star of a new show. "My vital statistics," said the chestnut-haired beauty, "are 42-20-35." Rochelle hails from suburban Hammersmith. She was graduated from school two years ago with what she thought was enough equipment and background to go on the stage. "Enough equipment?" asked the first theatrical manager she applied to for a job. "You've got too much." She kept on applying until she landed a job in the chorus, but after a few days she was told: "Sorry, you'll have to go. Your figure makes the other girls look as if they have no figures." Rochelle turned next to drama and took some acting lessons. "I got a few little parts," she said, "but it was the same old story, my statistics. The leading ladies objected to me. I dwarfed them, I think." WIMED FOR TOP... Desperate, she didn't know which way to turn. "Then one day I said to myself, 'The only answer is—be a leading lady.'" She tried that idea on a number of producers before she finally found one who agreed with her theory. He gave her the lead in a comedy called Glamour Girl. The show played the provincial

British Police Arrest Accused Child Slayer

CLECKHEATON, Eng. (Reuters)—Police have arrested a man accused in Britain's 21st child murder of the year. The man, not identified, will be charged today with murdering Joan Burton, 10, who was dragged from her bicycle Sunday, criminally assaulted and injured fatally, police said. Her battered body was found in a field near Cleckheaton, a town of 12,000 190 miles north of London. Joan's death was the third murder of a child in less than a month and the 21st of the year. The number of children and adults murdered throughout Britain since Jan. 1 stands at 95, a figure which has horrified the public and puzzled Scotland Yard. More than 50 of the murders have occurred in the 16 weeks since the death sentence was abolished for most murders. Joan was not the only child attacked in the Cleckheaton area on Sunday. The nine-year-old daughter of a policeman managed to escape a man believed to be Joan's killer. This man, with a twisted mouth and staring eyes, attempted to lure her into a field, the nine-year-old told her father. BROTHER, SISTER KILLED Police are still hunting the killer of two Bristol children, Royston Sheasby, 5, and his sister, June, 7, clubbed to death in a wood near their home June 20. Police have solved all but eight of the killings. Some of them involved parents who killed their children and then attempted suicide. Of all the murder trials this year, only one defendant still faces the death sentence. He is John Wilson Vickers, 22, a laborer accused of killing Miss Jane Duckett while robbing her small store. He is scheduled to die July 23 unless Queen Elizabeth uses her royal prerogative to save him. He would be the first to be hanged since Aug. 12, 1955, when Eric Wilkinson, 22, a miner, was executed for slaying his mother-in-law.

Motorist Robbed By Hitch-Hiker

Local RCMP report that a Winnipeg man, Aker Pederson, was severely beaten and robbed of his car and wallet containing $100 by a hitch-hiker that he picked up yesterday west of Winnipeg. Early this morning, while Pederson and his passenger were proceeding along No. 3 highway, they had a flat tire near the Whittia turnoff. While Pederson was changing the tire, the hitch-hiker slugged him with a tire wrench and robbed him. On regaining consciousness, Pederson made his way to Whittia and enlisted the aid of a couple there, the Cranmers. They gave him first aid and called local RCMP. The hitch-hiker who gave his name as Thomas Roy Jackson alias John Bolan proceeded west and was apprehended near Coaldale by Lethbridge RCMP. Mr. Pederson is now in Medicine Hat General Hospital in good condition suffering from head lacerations. He was on a holiday when the accident occurred and is employed in Winnipeg as a painter. Jackson is being held for trial in Lethbridge. All stolen goods have been recovered and are also being held in Lethbridge. Mr. and Mrs. Cranmer are the proprietors of the Whittia general store and explain that they were awakened shortly after 2 a.m. by a knock on the window. When they answered, a man called "Will you help me, please? I've been beaten and robbed." Mrs. Cranmer exclaimed that she "never wants to see anyone in such terrible condition again." Pederson was so badly beaten that his features were unrecognizable. He had staggered over a mile from the scene of the robbery and his wrist watch had stopped shortly after one o'clock, pin-pointing the time of the beating. It had taken him well over an hour to walk the mile for help.

TRADE TURNABOUT

Norway had a foreign trade surplus of $11,000,000 in 1956, compared with a deficit of more than $120,000,000 in 1955.

HANGING (Continued from Page One)

"I have had two choices in the matter. One was to continue through life with the mental picture of this man beating my daughter to death. The other was to see him hang for the crime. Only the latter can obliterate from my memory the former picture." CAN'T FORGIVE... Afterwards, Moore walked down the steps to the stairwell where Eaton's body lay on a stretcher. He looked at Eaton's uncovered face. Asked "Can you find it in yourself to forgive Gerald Eaton now?" He shook his head. Eaton said in a brief note taken from his cell: "Society has decreed that a few minutes after midnight tonight I shall die. After 14 months of facing death, I cannot say I am sorry. It is a release from mental torture that at times is almost unbearable."

GAS RATE (Continued from Page One)

Calgary power requires 10,000,000 cubic feet per day for which it pays only 4.5 cents, and this has the tendency to throw any average figures out of line. The mayor said that he understood the average cost of gas to the city now is near 7 1/2 cents delivered to the transmission system. Ald. Craig said it was inconceivable to him that industry should request gas at a lower price than the city was paying. Mr. Sissons asked Ald. Craig if he knew what the prices were. The alderman replied that he had learned much about the local gas situation from the proceedings of the conservation board last January. Ald. McCombs asked the industrialists if they realized how many other benefits there were to manufacturing in this city; he said that power costs are 10 percent lower than elsewhere, taxes are lower, and the average cost of labor is lower. Ald. McCombs then moved that the council authorize the preparation of answers to the questions prepared by the industrial committee members.
