Special days highlight Whoop-Up Days week

□ Kids' Day first up, but much more to follow

As always, each day of Whoop-Up action at the fairgrounds carries a special theme with shows and admission prices geared to a particular audience.

The first day of fairground action, July 28, is Kids' Day. Children 12 and under are admitted free from noon to 6 p.m.

A free grandstand show at 1:30 p.m. will feature The Moffatts, a family country band and will include appearances by Donny Landis, a rodeo clown; Deedra Lybbert, Miss Rodeo Canada; and Lisa Dewitt, Alberta Dairy Princess.

A draw will be made during the show for one boy's and one girl's bicycle.

A heavy horse halter show, sure to be interesting for children and parents alike, will be highlighted in the livestock area.

Senior citizens can enjoy free admission to the fair until 4 p.m. July 29 for Seniors' Day.

A grandstand show at 1:30 p.m. will feature The Moffatts, in their final Whoop-Up appearance, and the Chief Mountain Cloggers. Admission costs $1.

And to bring back memories of old, a heavy horse hitch show will be held in the livestock compound.

As Whoop-Up Days reaches its half-way mark July 29, attention turns to the midway for the traditional Midnight Madness, always a huge draw for area teenagers.

Special wristbands costing $12 each will go on sale at 5 p.m., giving access to unlimited midway rides from 7 p.m. to 1 a.m.

The Lethbridge and District Exhibition salutes southern Alberta's Japanese Canadian heritage July 31. Displays and entertainment from the Japanese-Canadian community is planned.

An appreciation of tourist traffic is the theme Aug. 1. Esther Petherbridge, marketing manager with the exhibition, says it's hoped tourists who otherwise might just drive through the city will take a break to enjoy the fair and find out what Lethbridge and southern Alberta have to offer.

The Chinook Country tourist information booths at the main entries to the city will be stocked with information and guides to all the area attractions including Whoop-Up Days.

Petherbridge has some advice for first time visitors to fairgrounds — plan to spend a day.

Special attractions Aug. 1 will focus on the livestock compound where both exotic and domestic animals will be featured. In particular, there will be a miniature horse halter show, llama halter show and a heavy horse pull competition.

The final day of festivities, Aug. 2, is Family Day. A special wristband costing $9 will be on sale for unlimited midway rides. Canada Safeway Ltd. and 24/7 Television will be distributing discount coupons in advance for $2 off the wristbands.

There will be one final grandstand show at 2 p.m. featuring Alberta band Straight, Clean and Simple. Tickets cost $3.

Kids' activities

Children are sure to find plenty of interesting attractions at this year's Whoop-Up Days.

Aside from the popular midway rides and games, kids can take part in some new and creative pastimes at the fair.

The Clownpuppets, a British Columbia-based profession puppet troupe with more than 200 puppets, will be performing daily. The caravan will be located outdoors on the grounds and is free to all.

The puppet show is a contemporary variety show with both country and rock music, and it's sure to be entertaining for parents and children alike.

Another daily activity, Scarecrow Fun, is geared for kids of all ages who can make their own life-sized scarecrows to take home with them.

And new to Whoop-Up Days, the Alberta Science Foundation will be providing hands-on science experiments using every day household items. The science booth will be manned by high school science students.

The Lethbridge BMX Club will be holding international competitions daily at 7 p.m. July 28-31 and 1 p.m. Aug. 1-2.
